Chatham County Mosquito Control to Intensify Operations in the Wake of Hurricane Matthew

SAVANNAH, GA (October 20, 2016) - Chatham County is currently experiencing a significant increase in adult mosquito activity that can be directly attributed to Hurricane Matthew. Chatham County Mosquito Control is currently seeing extremely high numbers of woodland and saltmarsh mosquitos throughout the County.

Chatham County Mosquito Control has started intensive aerial treatments of the entire county to address the problem and will continue until problem has been suppressed. It will likely take a full week to achieve complete treatment of the County. Some areas may require retreatment due to mosquitoes migrating in from surrounding areas.
